

CANNON OFFSHORE FUNDS

Deposit Plus Fund February 2014

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing in deposits, short dated government bonds, short dated corporate bonds and selected funds with low portfolio duration where appropriate. Bonds will generally be of 5 year maturity or less and the average portfolio maturity will generally be 3 years or less. Substantial exposure to gilts and deposits may also be held from time to time.

INVESTMENT COMMENT

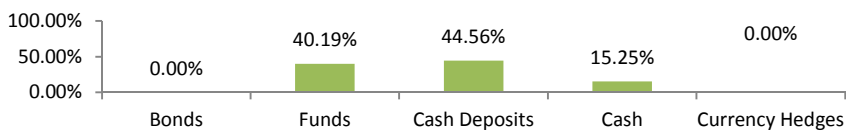

US GDP and inflation forecasts rose, as did those for Japan. UK and Euro area GDP forecasts were roughly flat but inflation expectations continued to fall. Most government bonds rallied on modest inflation expectations and improving growth, with the exception of Italian bonds which were strongly up and the UK Gilts which were flat. Corporate bonds were up during the month, outperforming government bonds, reflecting improved economic prospects and subdued or falling inflation. Longer term bonds gained most and short term bonds did not rise as much causing the spread between the two to narrow. Equity markets rallied during the month, recovering ground lost during January. The fund returned 0.18% for the month taking the year to date figure to 0.34%.
